STARFLEET INSTALL GUIDE

Starfleet turns Claude Code into a starship console: a crew member for each project, a captain's log that saves to your own private page, and a warp core that shows how full your chat is. Here's how to add it in the Claude desktop app.

About 3 minutes Claude desktop app Free, open source

1 OPEN CUSTOMIZE

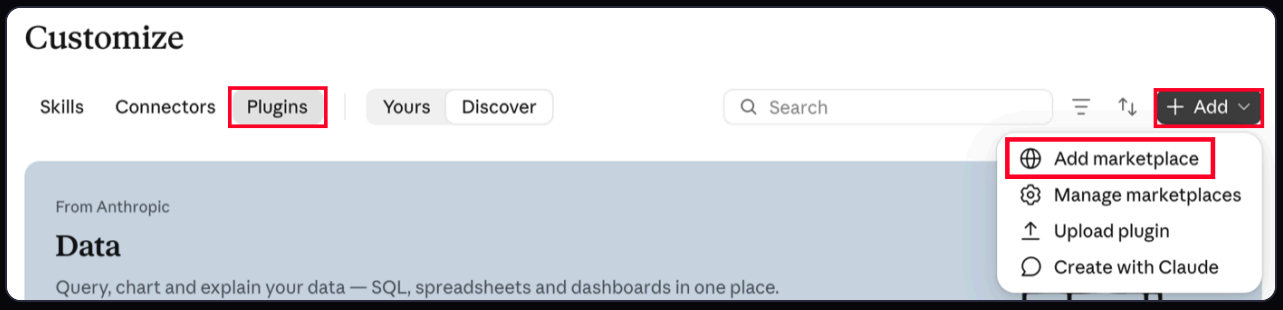

In the Claude app's left sidebar, click Customize. It's right under New, Artifacts and Routines.

You'll know it worked when a Customize page opens with Skills, Connectors and Plugins across the top.

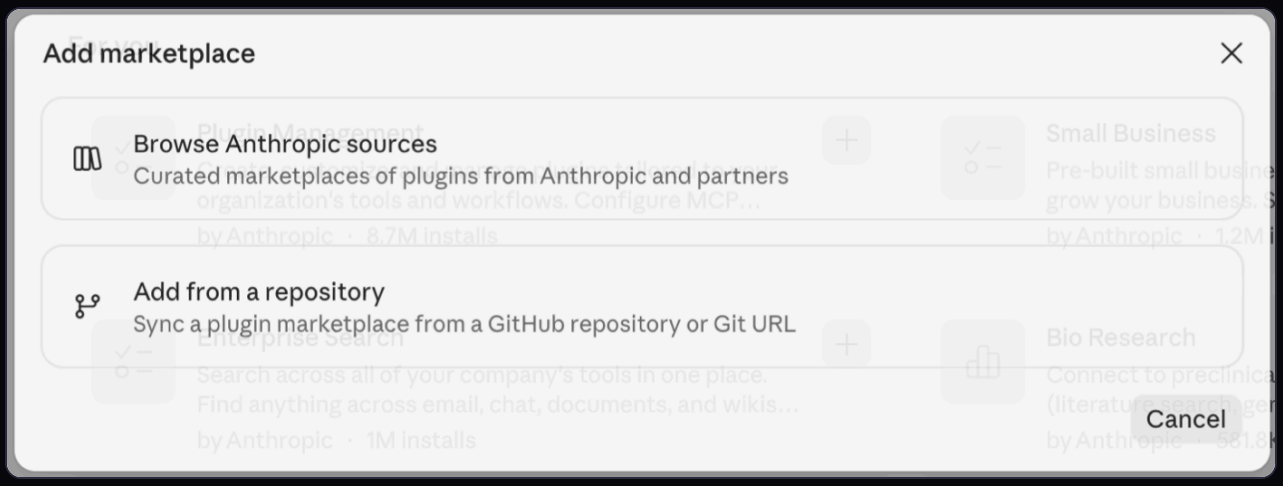

2 PLUGINS, THEN ADD MARKETPLACE

At the top of the Customize page, click the Plugins tab. Then press + Add in the top right corner of the page and choose Add marketplace from the menu that drops down. All three are boxed in red below.

3 ADD FROM A REPOSITORY

An Add marketplace box opens in the middle of the screen. Choose Add from a repository, the second option in that box.

4 TYPE THE STARFLEET ADDRESS

In the same box, click the URL field and type this. Pick starfleet from the list that drops down under the field, then press Sync in the bottom right corner of the box.

lorlola07/starfleet

> Heads up: the box warns you to only add marketplaces you trust. That's a normal check for any marketplace outside Anthropic's own. Pressing Sync adds Starfleet for you.

OPEN CLAUDE CODE, THEN TYPE /STARFLEET

Open Claude Code and type `/starfleet` in the message box at the bottom of the chat. The Starfleet console opens on the right side of the window.

RED ALERT: DON'T SKIP THIS ONE.

To get the most out of Starfleet, set up your hub. It's where your captain's log notes, crew and missions are saved, so without it your notes have nowhere to go.

FIND YOUR HUB ANY TIME: in the Starfleet console on the right, press Captain's log in the gold Captain's log block, then click Open Starfleet Command ⟶ at the bottom of the log tab. It's also in the Claude app's left sidebar: click Artifacts and open Starfleet Command.

SET UP YOUR HUB

In the Starfleet console on the right side of the window, find the gold Captain's log block, just below the stardate and its buttons. Press Set up my hub there. Claude makes your own private Starfleet Command page on claude.ai, where your notes, crew and missions are saved.

> You'll know it worked when Claude replies in the chat with a link to your new page, and the Set up my hub button disappears from the Captain's log block. Notes you log from then on land there on their own.

ONE KNOWN BUG. WANT TO HELP SOLVE IT?

After you press a button in the console, scrolling can shiver in place. Press Esc on your keyboard and it stops right away.

We haven't cracked this one yet. If you like a good puzzle, the Known issues section of the README has what we've tried so far, and you can share an idea or a fix on GitHub.

USING THE TERMINAL INSTEAD?

Run this at the Claude Code prompt in your terminal, say yes to adding the marketplace, then pick a scope:

/plugin install starfleet --marketplace lorlola07/starfleet
